8th Annual Tourney in Mexico City

The University of Maryland Basketball team captured the Eighth Intercontinental Cup Games in Mexico City, Sept. 10-14. The Terrapins were 5-0 in the round-robin competition, edging Ignis Varese of Italy, 81-80, in the championship game.

All-American guard John Lucas won the scoring title with 138 points for a 27.6 average. The junior hit on 62 of 125 floor shots for an average of .496. He was successful on 14 of 21 foul shots, collected 28 rebounds and handed out 29 assists in an impressive performance.

Tom Roy was third in the rebounding race with 45. Rafael Rullan of Real Madrid won that title with 54. Roy, a 6-9 senior, averaged 11 points a game for Maryland.

Guard Maurice Howard was the Terps' second leading scorer, hitting 17.6. Howard was excellent from the field with a tournament performance of 42 for 68, a percentage of .618. The junior was also Maryland's best foul shooter, hitting eight of 10 from the charity line.

Owen Brown was the squad's third leading scorer and second leading rebounder. The senior forward averaged 14.2 points and eight rebounds in the five-game series. Brown was successful on 58.9 per cent of his foul shots.

Steve Sheppard, a 6-6 sophomore, was the other double-figure scorer at 10 points a game.

Maryland was the highest scoring team in the tournament with a 94.6 average. The team hit 49.9 per cent of the floor shots and 63.2 per cent of their free throws. The Terps also collected an average of 43.8 rebounds a game in the international competition.

CHARLES G. "LEFTY" DRIESELL

Coaching Basketball is a way of life for Charles G. "Lefty" Driesell. The popular Terp Mentor is one of the most successful men in his profession. He ranks as one of the winningest active major college coaches in the nation. Even more importantly he ranks as the most successful in producing outstanding young men who also excel in their future endeavors.

Few coaches ever produce a Rhodes Scholar. Lefty has coached two. Charles Thomas McMillen is currently a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford and Danny Carrell was a Rhodes Scholar from Davidson in 1963.

Len Elmore became an instant millionaire upon graduation from Maryland and when Moses Malone indicated his intentions to join the professional ranks Lefty made sure the youngster obtained the security from the professionals he deserved.

Assistant Coaches and players alike benefit from their association with Lefty as he has contributed more than his share of assistants to Head Coaching duties throughout the nation.

While his life revolves around the basketball court the Terp Mentor contributes greatly to the University Community, the athletes, and his associates through his active participation in the academic life of the University, the charitable organizations of the community, and the church. He is a father away from home for his athletes.

Over the years Lefty has gained a reputation as a superior recruiter and he has earned the reputation. He recruits not only outstanding basketball players but outstanding individuals. Those that join the Maryland program know that they will benefit from excellent coaching, but more importantly know they will leave the University with a bright future ahead of them. The future may be in professional basketball, continuation of their education, joining the educational and coaching ranks, or in a professional field such as Medicine or Law. Whatever their decision they know they will leave Maryland prepared to move ahead in the field of their choice.

Lefty is always in close touch with his athletes, their professors and family. He often knows where they need help before they realize it themselves. The athletes are always welcome in his home and often have their Saturday buffets there with the coaching staff and their wives.

Lefty has been a winner from the day he enrolled at Duke University. He was a Dean's List student at Duke where he received his B.A. degree. He later received his Master's in Education at William & Mary College where he was a member of Kappa Delta Pi Honorary Fraternity.

He started his coaching career as a Junior Varsity Coach at Granby High School in Norfolk, Virginia (his hometown) and continued on to become the best in his profession in the history of the state with 59 consecutive wins at nearby Newport News High School.

Lefty then accepted the challenge of collegiate coaching and took over a dormant basketball program at Davidson College. His coaching ability at the collegiate level was immediately evident as, with the talent on hand, he recorded the best record Davidson Basketball had achieved in five years and in only his second year led the Wildcats to their first winning season in 13 years. In only his third season Davidson had recorded its first 20 victory season in 54 years of competition and had achieved national prominence.

After leading Davidson to six 20 victory seasons (4 teams in top 10) and a 27-3 record in 1969 Lefty accepted the challenge of another building program and moved on to College Park, Maryland.

The Terrapins were also in the doldrums suffering through three consecutive losing seasons. During the 46 years of competition Maryland had only achieved two 20 victory seasons and the last of those came in 1958.

Again Lefty transformed a loser into a winner, taking the talent on hand and recording 13-13 and 14-12 seasons in his first two years. Prior to his arrival the Terps had not won more than eight games in two years.

In only his third season the Terrapins had shocked the basketball world with a 27-5 record and a National Invitational Tournament Championship. He followed that with a 23-7 record and a berth in the NCAA Eastern Regional Finals and then a 23-5 season with third or fourth place national ranking depending on which poll or publication you follow.

Only a 103-100 overtime loss to NCAA Champion North Carolina State in the finals of the 1974 ACC tournament prevented Lefty from achieving his goal of each session, the National Championship.

Lefty earned the reputation as a superior recruiter by persuading top student-athletes to attend a University that had not excelled in their sport in the past. However statistics point out the fact that he is also a superior coach.

Rebounding, free throw shooting, superior field goal percentages, a fast break offense and man-to-man defense are all areas of the game that Lefty stresses along with conditioning, and his teams have excelled at each.

In 14 years of coaching at the collegiate level he has never had a team that was out-rebounded and his last 13 teams have hit better than 70 percent of their free throws.

As is typical with Lefty Driesell coached teams, the 1973-74 Terrapins were nationally ranked in scoring, margin of victory, rebounding and field goal percentage. The Terps hit 51 percent of their shots from the field, the fifth Driesell coached team to achieve the 50 percent mark and the seventh to score over 80 points a game. It also was his ninth team to win over 20 games in a season and seventh to rank among the top 11 teams in the nation.

Lefty stresses the man-to-man defense, feeling that in order to be a well rounded basketball player, in order for a team to win a national championship, and in order for a team to utilize all of its natural talent it is necessary to play the game man-to-man.

The entire ACC has benefited from the hard work, dedication to the game and his profession, and the success of Driesell as everyone strives to keep up with the Terp Mentor.

Driesell leaves nothing to chance, studying film hours at a time and is never caught without a projector at home or away. He supervises every phase of the program from the equipment to ticket sales and the athletes meals in addition to keeping close check on their classroom work.

All of this has contributed to Lefty winning 276 basketball games in just 14 years for a winning percentage of .721 and winning 100 games in just five years at Maryland. Prior to his arrival it took the Terps 10 years to win 100 games.

Even when Lefty is taking one of his short vacations he is where the action is. On July 12 of 1973 while surf fishing at Bethany Beach, Delaware around Midnight Lefty was credited with saving the lives of at least 10 children and several adults from burning buildings in a townhouse complex near the beach. As a result of this Lefty was honored with the NCAA Award of Valor, becoming the first coach to receive this award.

Lefty, his attractive wife Joyce and their children Patty, Pam, Carolyn and Charles are members of the Colesville Presbyterian Church and when traveling Lefty may be found every Sunday at the nearest church to the Motel where he is staying. Many of the members of the team accompany him to services when on the road.

He is a member of the Branch Rickey Associated Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Lefty is also a member of the Beta Gamma Sigma Honorary at Maryland and is listed in Marquis' Who's Who in the South and the Directory of International Biography.

COACH DRIESELL'S OFFENSIVE PHILOSOPHY

My offensive philosophy as a junior high school coach, high school coach and college coach has always been the same. We run a pro oriented offense which features a fast break and strong inside game. We try to get the highest percentage shot possible and never take a shot at the basket from outside unless we have 3 to 4 people in position to go to the offensive boards.

Our first objective is to create a fast break situation on defense by 1) making our opponents turn the ball over, 2) getting a rebound and throwing the outlet pass quickly, 3) getting the ball in quickly after a made basket or free throw and advancing it up the court and getting an overload on transition. We have always been a fast breaking, high scoring, offensive team.

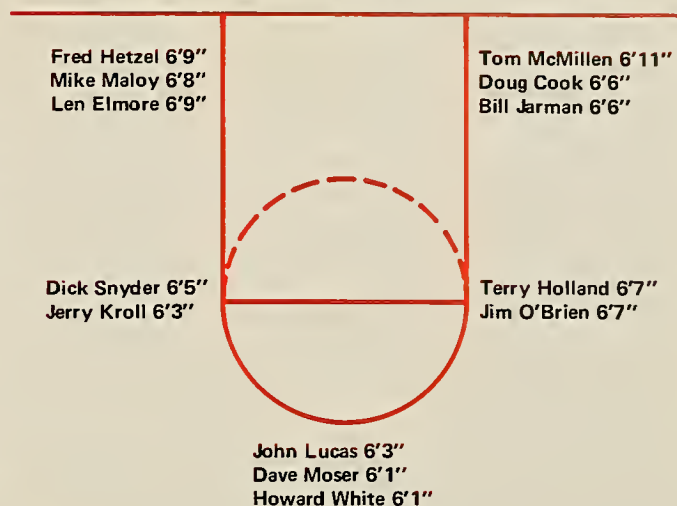

If we are not successful in scoring on our "fast break offense" after a steal, rebound, or basket then we will go to our set offense which has always been inside oriented and in the past we have primarily run a double low post offense. However, at times we have run a stack offense using three inside men as we did in 73-74 with Tom McMillen, Len Elmore, and Owen Brown or Tom Roy in the line up. Again it is my philosophy that the more shots that we get in the free throw lane area the higher percentage we will shoot and the more fouls we will force our opponent into committing. Therefore our offense is predicated to getting the ball to the big men inside and as you can see we have had four legitimate All-American pivot men in Fred Hetzel (Davidson 1963), Mike Maloy (Davidson 1970), Len Elmore (Maryland, 1974) and Tom McMillen (Maryland, 1974). However, if our opponents jam inside we must have excellent outside shooting wing men and point men. Dick Snyder (Davidson 1966) has been our all time leading scorer for 1 season average 27.8 points per game his senior year and John Lucas has been our all time leading point man averaging 20 points per game. Both of these men were also legitimate All-Americans.

Our philosophy has always been that you must get everyone involved in the offense and you must have good movement of the ball and again get as many high percentage shots as we can in the free throw lane area either with our fast break or double low post or stack offense.

Our offense has produced 5 teams that shot over 50% from the floor, 2 that shot 49% and one 48%.

We feel our offense is exciting, disciplined and similar to what our athletes will play in the pros.

COACH DRIESELL'S DEFENSIVE PHILOSOPHY

Throughout my coaching career as a junior varsity, high school and college coach I have always believed very strongly that I should teach my athletes to play hard nose man for man defense. This has always been our style of defense and if there is one thing that I strongly believe it is that your team is only as good as you are defensively. Our 1973-74 (ranked 4th in the nation) team for example held our opponents to a field goal percentage of 39.9 percent for the year. I think we were able to accomplish this because we carried out our philosophy on defense which is not to allow our opponents any shots in the free throw lane area and to force them to shoot outside with pressure on them and to do an excellent job of blocking out and not allow any second shots.

We like to overplay our man one pass from the ball and force our opponents out of their offensive patterns. We do a lot of sagging and helping when we are two passes from the ball. We have had some great defensive centers such as Len Elmore, Mike Maloy and Fred Hetzel who have done an excellent job of blocking shots and protecting the basket for us. We have also had some great defensive forwards such as Dick Snyder, who during his senior year held three opponents who were averaging over 20 points a game to 1 point, 2 points, and 0 points.

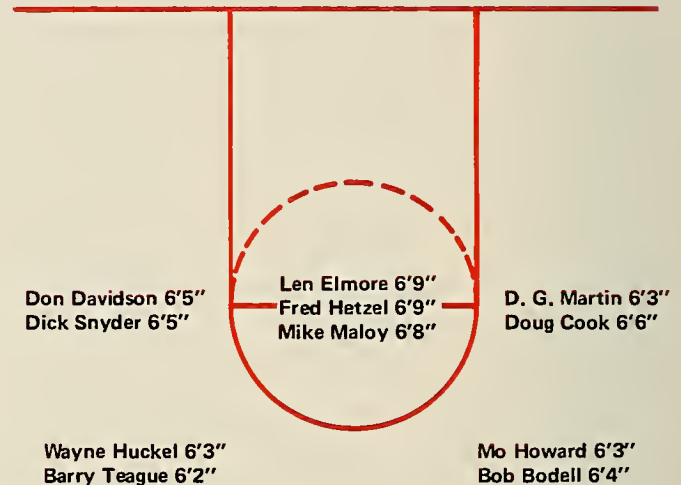

We believe that we must dictate to the offensive man and team and not let them do what they want to do. However, our philosophy is that if a player scores a lay up on him, it is his fault and responsibility. However, if he shoots outside and we have pressure on him and he makes the basket it is my (coaches) fault and responsibility. We like to look at our shot charts at the end of a ball game and see how few layups and shots in the free throw lane area that we have allowed our opponents. Normally, if we do not give many shots or baskets inside we will come out on top.

In order to have diversity we will also play a half court trap defense that we call our "Golash" defense and we will also play some type of zone each year for opponents that we feel are particularly weak against zones or for use at the end of a close ball game.

We will also have full court man for man and zone presses in case we fall behind and feel that we must press in order to catch up. However, our money defense is our straight man for man defense and our "top ten" teams in the past have been very tough and aggressive on defense.

Another strong reason for using a man for man defense is because we want to prepare our athletes for professional basketball.

ASSISTANT COACH JOE HARRINGTON

Joe Harrington has been an important part of Maryland Basketball for the past eleven years. As an All-American player from Morse High School in Bath, Maine, Joe chose to attend the University of Maryland for its academic excellence and awesome potential in basketball. During his playing career he was First Team, Co-Captain, and a pro draft selection of the World Champion Boston Celtics.

When Coach Driesell was named Head Coach of the Terrapins, he hired Joe as an assistant. "Joe has been with me since my first day at Maryland and is extremely capable", said Coach Driesell. "With his experience in all phases of the Maryland program, I believe he has an excellent future in the coaching profession."

Harrington, who played in the pre-Driesell era, has made many contributions towards establishing a tradition of winning and nationally ranked teams. However, he attributes this tradition to Coach Driesell's unique ability to personally motivate, inspire, and work with everyone directly, or indirectly, associated with the Maryland Basketball program. Coach Driesell's genuine concern for people is felt, whether discussing a player's academic goals with a professor, coaching on the floor of Cole Field House or speaking to the players, parents, alumni and friends at the annual basketball banquet."

Coach Harrington is married to the former Ann Schopfer, also a Maryland graduate. This past spring Ann received her degree from the University of Maryland Law School.

ASSISTANT COACH DAVE PRITCHETT

Dave Pritchett comes to the University of Maryland as one of the most sought after assistant coaches in the country.

Whether it be coaching or teaching on the floor to diagramming styles of play at one of the hundreds of coaching clinics he had attended, it all leads to one simple statement . . . Dave Pritchett is a winner.

Every program Pritchett has ever been associated with moved to the top with over 20 game winning seasons within two years after his arrival on the scene. He is widely known for his organizational ability and great love and rapport with the players and staff.

"The most forming day in my life was when Coach Driesell called and gave me a chance to be associated with him at the University of Maryland. Coach Driesell, without question, possesses the finest basketball mind in the game today and he is the outstanding basketball man of our times.

"It has been my life long ambition to be associated with a man of Coach Driesell's ability. I have always wanted to study under such a person, who through his thousands of hours of studying films and constant clinic study is so very talented on the floor."

Coach Pritchett came to Maryland from Boston College where he served as the top varsity assistant over the past two years. Before Boston College, Dave served as assistant at Bluefield State College and Virginia Commonwealth University. His Bluefield State freshmen still hold the distinction of being the only undefeated team in its history.

Dave in a rare moment away from basketball will always be found at home with his wife, Judith Ann, and their three sons, Roger, David and Charles.

ASSISTANT COACH HOWARD WHITE

White works with the guards on guard play. White, one of the great all time guards at the University of Maryland has turned his talents to the other aspect of the game. He has turned his talents away from making the plays into making the plays that win the games from the side.

White has been termed by many of his colleagues as one of the best rising young coaches in the profession. White, a hard working hard hitting young coach has nothing but high acclaim for head mentor Coach Lefty Driesell.

White who works in the dynamic Maryland backcourt and knows what makes it tick. "We have some outstanding guards, we have the guards that it takes to go all the way. We should be very interesting to watch. One thing is for sure we should be quick enough in the back to burn a few people."

White, when asked about head coach Lefty Driesell says, "My experience under head Coach Lefty Driesell will be invaluable in my future endeavors whatever they may be. My years here at Maryland and under Coach Driesell have enlightened my life and shed a great deal of worldliness on basketball and on life itself."

Coach White, in his playing days at Maryland, shooting over Virginia's All-American Barry Parkhill.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTS

Rich Porac
(Monroeville, PA.)

Bob Bodell is a graduate assistant. He is getting his masters degree in Business Administration. During Bodell's years at Maryland the team's record was 87-29 which included an NIT Championship in 1972, reaching the NCAA Eastern Regional Finals in 1973, plus nationally ranked teams of 8th and 11th. During his junior year he led the team in field goal percentage with 58.9%, highlighted by 19 points against Niagara in the NIT Championship.

His senior year, he set a record unmatched by any other player in Maryland Basketball history, most consecutive games played, as a freshman and varsity player, 104.

As a player he had a reputation as a great defensive player, highlighted by his holding All-American Barry Parkhill to 2 free throws in a game at College Park.

This season he is assisting Coach Driesell in scouting and recruiting.

Rich is doing post-graduate work in zoology. He plans to go to Dental School.

During his four-year career at Maryland, Rich played on the undefeated 16-0 freshman team, an NIT Championship team, an NCAA Eastern Regional Finalist, and had a four year record of 89-17.

Also included in Rich's plans is his upcoming marriage to former Maryland head cheerleader Carol Pender.

Rich is assisting Coach Driesell with scouting and recruiting.

Bob Bodell

John Lucas was an instant success for the Terapins... When Lucas enrolled at College Park only Coach Driesell predicted great success for young Lucas... many said he was a better Tennis prospect... Lucas not only started as a freshman but became a legitimate All-American as a sophomore and is on all of the pre-season All-American teams as a junior... with only two years behind him and two more remaining he ranks tenth on the All-Time Maryland career scoring list with 989 points... Only three Maryland players ever scored more in a single season than the 564 points he scored as a sophomore while leading the Terps in scoring with a 20.1 average... he also hit 51 percent of his shots from the field and 75 percent from the free throw line while contributing 159 assists... All-ACC-All-ACC Tournament... third in voting for ACC Athlete of Year honors... started every game... runner-up for Outstanding Player of ACC Tournament honors as a freshman... ACC Tennis Champion... ACC Doubles Champion... reached final field of 32 in NCAA Tennis Championships... Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Champion... the list of awards and titles won continues... In six ACC tournament games and two NCAA tournament games he has failed to top 20 points only once and in that game he contributed 18 points... high game as a sophomore was 31 points against Duke... topped the 20 mark in 18 of 28 games as a sophomore and scored in double figures in the last 27 games of the season... when recruiting him Coach Driesell said "just the type of individual we want at Maryland he is a leader and an outstanding individual. I am impressed with his attitude, his speed and quickness and he is a tremendous shooter. He's also left-handed and that won't hurt him." While at Hillside high he scored 1,890 points, surpassing the marks set by Pete Maravich in the same league, and averaged 34.5 points a game as a senior... named the Outstanding Player in the World Cup Games in Puerto Rico this past summer and led all scorers in the Intercontinental Cup Games in Mexico City with a 27.6 average... Maryland Press Coverage

University of Maryland athletes receive the best press coverage in the nation. The Terrapins are in a unique situation located just a few miles from the nations capital and two of the best known newspapers in the nation, the Washington Post and the Star-News, while just a few miles to the north they have another major metropolitan area with the Baltimore Sunpapers and the News American.

In addition there are 10 other daily papers publishing around the state and some of the finest weekly papers in the country.

Thus the Terrapins have 15 daily papers covering their athletic activities including five major metropolitan daily publications.

The 15 daily papers alone have a circulation of two million with the Washington Post alone reaching nearly 700,000 homes every Sunday and the Star-News nearly half-a-million more.

The Post, Star-News and Sunpapers are also known throughout the nation and are available on Newsstands in every major metropolitan area in the country.

There are also 71 weekly newspapers published in the State of Maryland with circulation running as high as the 34,000 of the Montgomery County Sentinel.

The National Observer with over a half million circulation is published in nearby Silver Spring, Maryland and also follows the Terps fortunes.

Both Wire services staff the Terrapin games with Regional Sports Editor Gordon Beard of Associated Press and Samm Fogg the Washington Bureau Sports Editor of United Press International.

With Washington, D.C. the News Capital of the World every major publication and news outlet has a staff in Washington giving Maryland national coverage of all major events.

Time Magazine, Sports Illustrated, Peoples Magazine, the Sporting News and many other national publications have carried major feature articles on the Terps in recent years.

The Afro-American publishes its National Edition in Baltimore along with local editions for Baltimore and Washington. The Baltimore edition has a circulation of over 32,000 with another 34,000 printed for Washington.

Academics at the University of Maryland

Situated in a pleasant suburban setting only nine miles from Washington, D. C., just thirty miles from the state capital of Annapolis and thirty-two miles from the port of Baltimore, the College Park Campus offers exceptional intellectual challenges and educational opportunities.

The University of Maryland community has access to fine libraries, well-equipped science laboratories and extensive fine arts facilities on Campus. To compliment these learning centers are the unique cultural, political and scientific resources only found in the nation's capital.

The Campus is composed of 1,300 acres and 228 major buildings, surrounding one of the largest and loveliest tree-lined malls of any university.

New buildings include an Undergraduate Library of 1,350,000 volumes; a Zoology-Psychology complex; a recently completed $6 million Physical Education facility; a new Arts and Humanities building as well as the world's largest spiral ridge cyclotron and a comprehensive computer science center.

Among the outstanding research facilities are a nuclear reactor; scanning electron microscopes; subsonic and hypersonic wind tunnels; electron ring accelerator; and the Astronomy Observatory.

The Campus is just a few miles from varied cultural and research facilities: the Kennedy Center, the Library of Congress; the National Archives; Folger Library; National Library of Medicine; Smithsonian Institution; National Institutes of Health; and the Goddard Space Center.

A sophisticated student population came to College Park last year from 49 states and over 90 foreign countries. They brought to the University varied personalities and ideas, differing life-styles and goals. This diverse student body produces a stimulating Campus where a student can learn to live with others in an atmosphere of freedom that encourages intellectual and social growth.

Good students enroll at College Park: 35% of entering freshmen were in the top fifth of their high school class and had a verbal SAT score of 480 and math SAT score of 520. In 1973-74 over 7,000 students received scholarship aid.

College Park is a comprehensive educational unit offering flexible possibilities for completing a degree. Majors in five divisions are possible: Agricultural and Life Sciences;

Arts and Humanities; Behavioral and Social Sciences; Human and Community Resources; Mathematical and Physical Sciences and Engineering; and a Bachelor's Degree in General Studies.

There are 71 undergraduate and 61 graduate programs leading to degrees.

The student-faculty ratio is 16-1.

The Honors Program offers around 600 academically talented students unusual flexibility. Special Honors sections emphasize small classes and independent study and Honors students may choose from among 25 departmental honors programs.

Pre-professional programs are available at the College Park Campus in Pre-Law, Pre-Dentistry and Pre-Medicine.

Special minority student opportunities are available. The Office of Minority Student Education provides special attention to the needs and interest of all minority students.

A full-time counselor provides personal and vocational guidance for all student athletes.

Over 250 organizations offer opportunities for participation in social activities.

Pre-professional programs are available at the College Park Campus in Pre-Law, Pre-Dentistry and Pre-Medicine.

*The University of Maryland School of Dentistry was the first dental school in the world.

*The School of Medicine, the fifth oldest in the U.S.

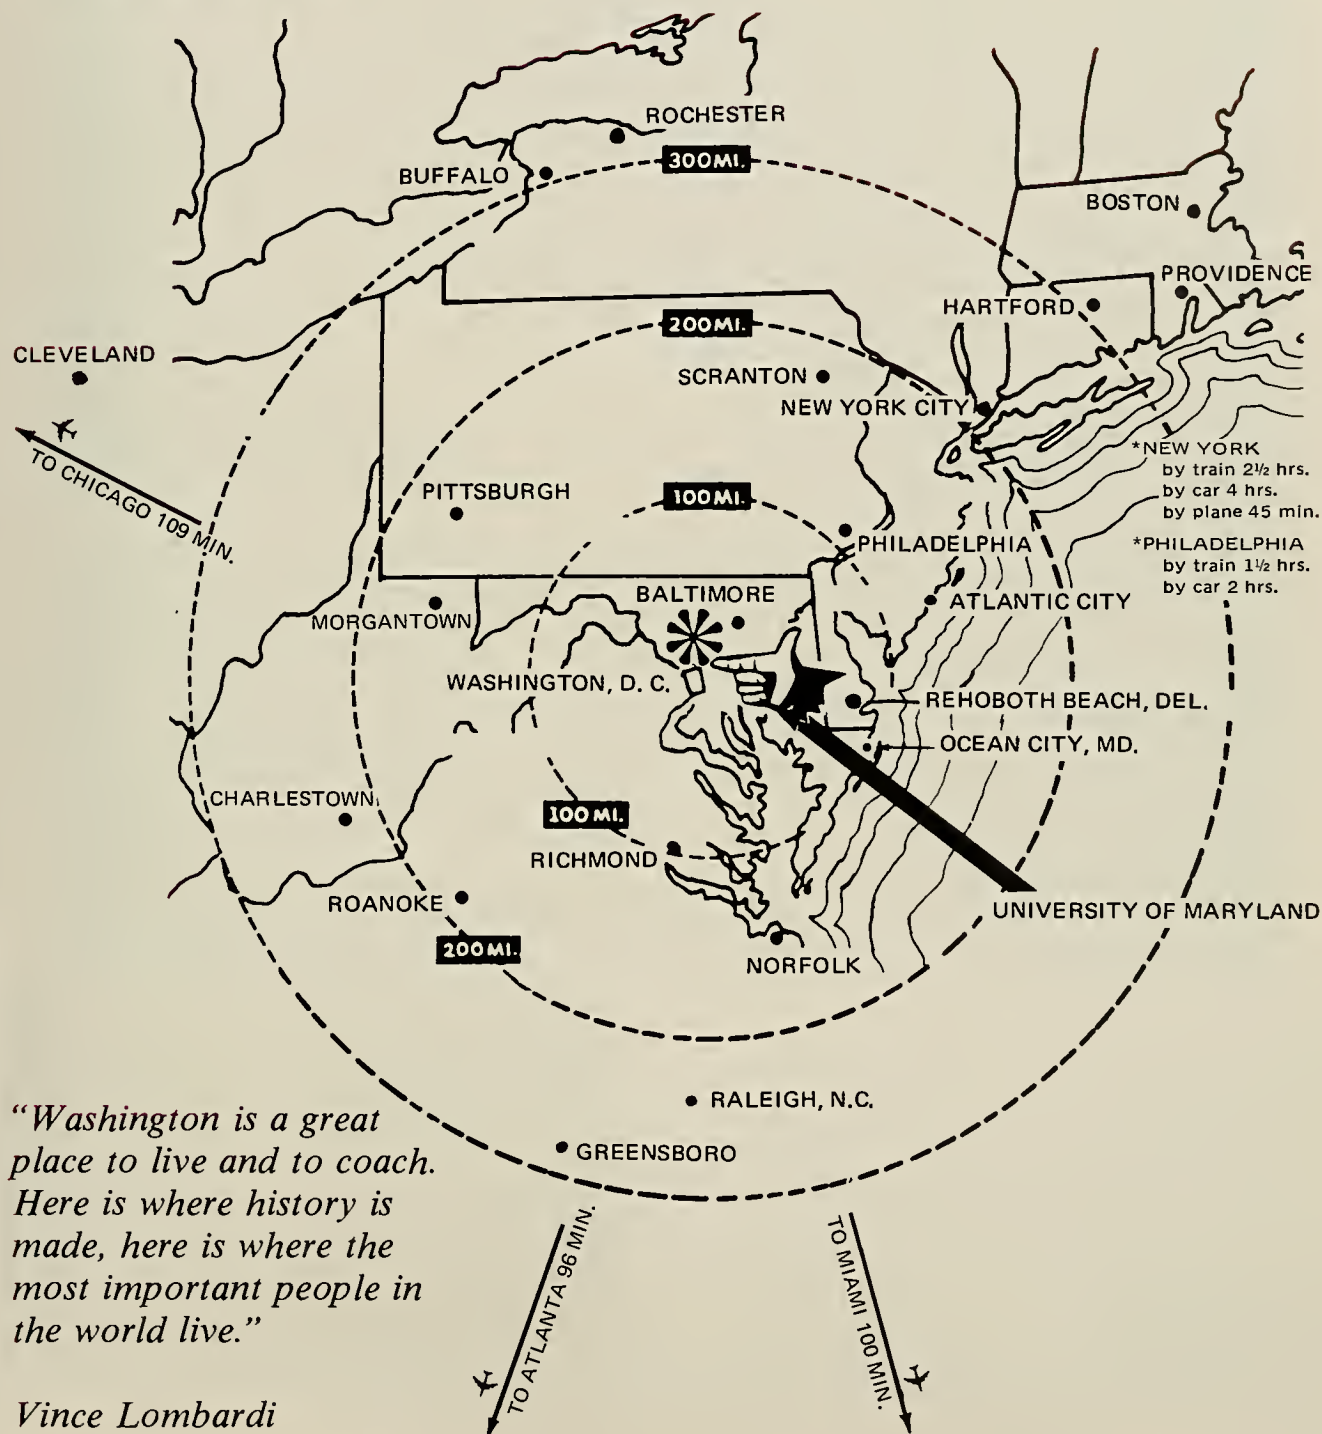

*The School of Law is the fourth such school to be established in the United States.

*The College of Agriculture, third oldest in the Western Hemisphere, was established in 1856.

*In 1949, the University became the first American university to offer a full college degree program for Armed Services personnel and their dependents stationed overseas. Today, it has the largest such program in the world.

COLE FIELD HOUSE— HOME OF THE MARYLAND TERRAPINS

site of: NCAA Finals, NCAA Regionals and numerous professional games*

The home of the Maryland Terrapins is one of the finest facilities in the country. For over four years Maryland has averaged 12,000-plus fans per home game. The past two seasons the mark has been 12,600. The capacity of Cole is 14,500, however the Field House record is 15,600 against North Carolina in 1973. Terp fans and players are particularly proud of Cole. The respect that Cole Field House is held in for its playing and viewing conditions is exhibited by the fact that it is in constant demand by various groups. Numerous professional teams, like the Washington Bullets, Boston Celtics, and New York Nets, have played at Cole.

But the biggest thrill for the Maryland fans are the Terrapin home games. The crowd excitement and the pageantry make a Maryland basketball game a sight to behold!

A mutual admiration society as the Maryland players rate their fans number one.

Maryland Basketball Players Enjoy First Class Living Conditions

The living conditions for the Maryland student-athlete are among the best in the nation. There are spacious dormitory rooms, study areas with tutors available. The players live in Ellicott Hall an eight story hi-rise that is one of the most modern on campus. It has numerous recreational facilities. However players may live wherever they choose. An in-season training table offers all you can eat with several entrees.

There is a full-time trainer for the basketball team with modern training facilities and a team physician. A weight room features two universal machines for important off-season work.

In all the on-campus living for the student-athlete provides the best possible conditions for learning and playing.

Social Life

"There are all kinds of people on the Maryland campus. The diversity of personalities has appeal for everybody."

—John Boyle.

"Whatever you want in social activity, you can find on the campus here at Maryland."

—Tom Roy.

"The social life on campus is SUPER!"

—Steve "Bear" Sheppard.

"I love the social life at Maryland. It has been the best time of my life."

—Owen Brown.

"I have grown more socially in the Maryland atmosphere than in any other phase of my life."

—Maurice "Mo" Howard.

The student enrollment of over 30,000 the social life at Maryland offers a wide variety of personalities and entertainment. Most notable in on-campus entertainment is the Student Union. The Union has a movie theatre (at a fraction of current prices), bowling lanes, billiard room, TV room and several eating facilities.

Maryland also has 54 national fraternities and sororities and numerous other active groups. The University also has excellent entertainment come on-campus for shows at Cole Field House. Already this year Cole has been the site of the Elvis Presley Show, Santana, Chicago and the Ali-Foreman Championship Fight.

The University offers extensive indoor and outdoor sports and recreational facilities for students including tennis courts, swimming facilities, an 18-hole golf course and bowling alleys. In addition nearby areas offer the attraction of professional sports as Washington, D.C. is the home of the NFL's Redskins, the NHL's Capitals, the NBA's Bullets and nearby Baltimore has the NFL's Colts and the Orioles of the American Baseball League.

Religious Life

University of Maryland Chapel

There are over 1,200 churches of over 70 different denominations in the area surrounding the University of Maryland. The National Capital Area is the site of more than 20 national churches including the National Baptist Memorial Church, the Lutheran Peace Memorial Church and the National Cathedral. The Washington Episcopal Cathedral, the newly-constructed Mormon Temple (largest Mormon Temple in the world), the National Methodist Church and the National Presbyterian Church are also located in the area.

Closer to campus, the University offers the Hillel House for Jewish students and the Newman Center for Catholic students. Our non-denominational University Chapel is one of the beauty spots on campus and offers a place to worship regardless of religious beliefs.

MARYLAND BASKETBALL BANQUET

"A Season-Ending Honor to the Terrapins"

Maryland Terrapins (from left) Maurice Howard, and Head Coach Lefty Driesell join last year's guest speaker, All-Time basketball great Bill Russell, along with Owen Brown and John Lucas.

At the end of each season, the University of Maryland honors its basketball team with one of the finest banquets in the country. A crowd of 700-plus people has crowded the Sheraton-Lanham Hotel Ballroom to give the Terrapins one final cheer for their season's efforts.

There are awards for the team's best rebounder, defensive player, outstanding senior, best foul shooter and the special awarding of the various All-American honors won.

The list of presenters and honored guests at the Maryland banquets is indeed impressive. In the past few year Governors, Senators and Congressmen as well as leading sports personalities have added their prestige to evening.

DRIESELL'S PLAYERS

Calling Coach Driesell "one of college basketball's great coaches" is only an attempt to measure the man's accomplishments and capabilities in his field. Not only does his coaching record speak for itself but, as a former player, I can attest to Coach's unfaltering guidance and leadership during four of the most important years in a young man's life. As a mentor, he aided in my growth as a man. As a coach, he armed me with the skills that enables me to become an All-American in college and now a professional player. Athletes who choose to attend the University of Maryland will benefit from his expertise. Coach Driesell is the "complete coach".

Jim O'Brien (Maryland '73) now with Memphis of the American Basketball Association.

Moses Malone first chose Maryland as his college then became the first high school player ever to go directly to the pros. He is with Utah of the ABA.

"My four years at Maryland were marked by Coach Driesell's thorough approach to the game of basketball. Not just in fundamentals, which he covered so well, but in all areas of the game there was his constant insistence on excellence that demanded one hundred percent from his players.

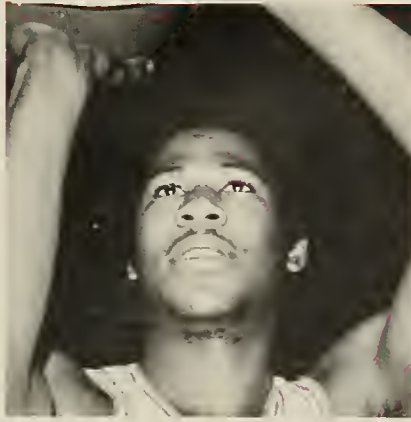

My relationship with Coach Driesell goes far beyond the basketball court though his keen interest and concern in my life off the court left a lasting impression. It certainly reveals a side of Coach Driesell of which many are not aware!"

DR. WILSON H. ELKINS
President of the University of Maryland

This year Dr. Elkins completed his twentieth year at the University as its twenty-first president. He is chief executive officer of the Board of Regents and head of the growing five-campus system which includes University College and its world-wide program of education.

During his period in office, President Elkins has seen the University grow from an annual enrollment of 8,500 students to more than 70,000. The total operating budget which was $23 million in 1954 is more than $225 million this year.

In addition to degrees from the University of Texas, Dr. Elkins earned his B.Litt. and Ph.D. degrees at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar.

Long a sports enthusiast and an avid golfer, Maryland's President was elected to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame in 1963 and was the recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Texas in 1972. While an undergraduate there he earned eight varsity letters in football, basketball, and track.

Dr. Elkins began his professional career as a history instructor before serving as President of San Angelo Junior College and Texas Western College (the University of Texas at El Paso).

He is a member of the Southern Regional Education Board and past president of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the Southern University Conference.

DR. JOHN W. DORSEY
Acting Chancellor, College Park Campus

John W. Dorsey, a 38-year-old economist educated at the University of Maryland, the London School of Economics, and Harvard University, became Acting Chancellor on August 16 following the departure of former Chancellor Charles E. Bishop, who is now president of the University of Arkansas.

Dr. Dorsey served as Vice Chancellor for Administrative Affairs at the University for the last four years—years that brought the first major enrollment drops and faculty cuts since World War II and the worst inflation since 1949.

Stretching a $100 million budget far enough to sustain the quality of instruction and services at College Park in the face of continuing inflation will be a primary goal for the Phi Beta Kappa scholar who once served as staff economist with President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

Apart from that, Dr. Dorsey expects his term as Acting Chancellor to be one of relative calm and consolidation, following the many changes over the past four years, which included a major campus reorganization and the addition of new programs and degrees.

Except for his one-year term with the Council of Economic Advisers, Dr. Dorsey has been a member of the College Park faculty since 1963. Before his appointment as Vice Chancellor for Administrative Affairs, he was Director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research and an Associate Professor of Economics.

Dr. Dorsey was born in Hagerstown, Maryland, and grew up in Sharpsburg.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

JIM KEHOE

James H. Kehoe assumed the duties of Director of Athletics at the University of Maryland on July 1, 1969 after serving as Maryland Track Coach for 23 years.

His five years as Terrapin AD have been exciting to say the least. The Terps have become National Powers in basketball, football and lacrosse and host the Carmichael Cup, symbolic of athletic supremacy in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It was Kehoe who lured Coach Lefty Driesell to Maryland to become the Terp basketball coach and then obtained the services of Jerry Claiborne to guide the Terrapin football fortunes. He also brought Bud Beardmore back to Maryland to take charge of the lacrosse program.

The combined record of basketball, football and lacrosse in 1968-69, the year prior to Kehoe's taking over, was 17-30. This past year with Driesell, Claiborne and Beardmore having established their programs the same three sports recorded a 39-11 record and national ranking in all three.

Kehoe is directing one of the few athletic programs in the nation that is not operating at a deficit yet continuous improvement in the physical facilities is evident.

He lured his former track teammate Col. Tom Fields into retirement from the Marine Corp to direct the Maryland Educational Foundation and instituted a drive to revamp the image of Maryland athletics. This past year the Maryland Educational Foundation exceeded its 350,000 dollar goal and the Terrapin Club increased its membership to over a thousand.

The athletic image has benefited not only from winning but from one of the finest radio and television networks in the nation. Over three-quarters of a million fans watched the Terps in person last year and many more benefited from national telecasts in both football and basketball. In addition from 20 to 30 stations carry the football and basketball games on radio as compared to only one station in 1969.

During his tenure as AD the Terps have won a NCAA Championship in Lacrosse and twice finished as runner-up for the National title, won the National Invitational Tournament Basketball Championship and gained the finals of the NCAA Eastern Regional Tournament for the first time, and the football team played in the Peach Bowl. It was the first Bowl appearance for the Terps since the 1955 team visited the Orange Bowl and the best record in 18 years.

Within the ACC the Terps won 22 of 64 Championships under Kehoe direction as compared to 13 for runner-up North Carolina. Maryland has now captured 117 titles since the ACC was formed in 1953. North Carolina has won 54 to rank second.

He has the Terps competing against the best in the Nation as the basketball team opened the 1973 season at UCLA and in 1974-75 will host UCLA and Notre Dame in Cole Field House. Claiborne's football team closed out the 1973 season with a 42-9 defeat of Tulane in Byrd Stadium, after hosting Penn State there earlier, opens the 1974 season with Alabama and follows that with a trip to Tampa to meet Florida.

As Maryland Track Coach Kehoe saw his teams capture the ACC Indoor and Outdoor Championships in all but one year of the ACC's existence. He won the first and last 14 in both and in addition captured eight cross country titles including his last six as a coach.

After taking over as Track and Cross Country Coach in 1946 his teams won a total of 48 Southern and ACC team titles. In dual meet competition his teams were undefeated for his last nine years and the track team had a winning streak of 27 straight victories and the cross country team 29 at his retirement.

Maryland won the IC4A track titles in 1965-1966 and 1969 to claim Eastern track supremacy.

Perhaps his greater moment as a coach was reserved for his final season as track coach. In his final meet, by the margin of a single point, Maryland defeated heavily favored Villanova for the IC4A outdoor championship. Kehoe declared this his "greatest track victory" during his career as a coach.

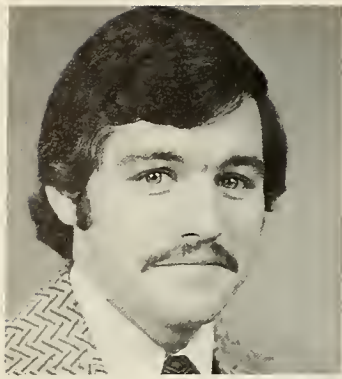

A native of Bel Air, Maryland, where he starred in several sports, Kehoe entered Maryland in 1936 and concentrated on track and cross country. He lettered in all three of his varsity seasons, was undefeated in dual meet competition and won several Southern Conference titles in indoor and outdoor competition. He also established indoor and outdoor records in the 880 yard and two mile runs.

While a student at Maryland he was president of the Men's League, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa National Honorary Fraternity.

In addition to coaching at Maryland he served as a Associate Professor of Physical Education and Director of Intramural Athletics. He holds an Honorary Doctors Degree from Steed College in Tennessee.

During World War II he served as an officer with the 81st Infantry Division in the Pacific, rising from the rank of private to Lieutenant Colonel upon retirement. He participated in the Philippine Islands and Central Pacific Campaigns and was awarded the Bronze Star, American Service Medal, Asiatic Pacific Medal, Victory Medal and Philippine Liberation Medal.

Kehoe is married to the former Barbara Riggs England, a 1943 Maryland graduate. The Kehoe's have four children; daughters Courtney Ann, Barbara Sue and Mary Lou and a son Jim. Courtney Ann and Jim are graduates of the University.

Driesell in Hero's Role

Coach Driesell receives NCAA Honor from NCAA Secretary-Treasurer Richard Koenig for his life saving efforts.

Lefty Driesell, Maryland's flamboyant basketball coach, earned a hero's label on the night of July 12-13 when he and two fishing companions saved at least 10 children from a fire which raged through four townhouses at Bethany Beach, Del.

"Let's face it, Driesell was a hero," said Samuel Meloy, a Prince Georges County circuit court judge who was vacationing and witnessed the incident. "There were no injuries, and it was a miracle because the firemen didn't come for at least 30 minutes."

Driesell modestly tried to play down his role.

"Hey, man, don't build me up as any kind of hero," the Terps' 41-year-old coach begged. "All we did was try to get the kids out. It was just lucky that we were fishing right in front of the houses."

At least one resident of the burning houses didn't appreciate Driesell's valor at first, Meloy said. Not realizing that the house was ablaze, a woman ran outside screaming about an intruder after Driesell broke in the door.

Equal heroism was demonstrated by Driesell's companions: Paul Williamson, athletic director for Durham, N.C., high schools, and another man whose identity Driesell said he did not know.

The fire occurred in a subdivision about four miles from Rehoboth Beach where Driesell and his family were vacationing.
